POST ONE PROTESTS.

Resolutions Adopted on the Erection of the Confederate Monument in Chicago.

At a regular meeting of the William Logan Rodman Post No. 1, G. A. R., held last evening, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

And whereas the department commander, Joseph A. Thayer, has issued and forwarded to all Grand Army posts a special letter calling attention to this matter, and in protest of such a desecration of our "Grand Army Sabbath."

Wherefore, resolved, That while it is probably impossible for us to prevent the ex-confederates from constructing and erecting a monument to the memory of their dead, and have no desire to renew a strife which we had hoped and believed had long ago been forever buried, that we solemnly protest against the dedication of any such monument in any northern city or town on Memorial Day, which was set apart, and has continued to be maintained as sacred to the memory of the dead soldiers and sailors of the union army and navy.

Resolved, That as the deceased soldiers and sailors of the Confederate and Union armies are not buried in the same graves, nor while living were fighting for the same cause, it is manifestly wrong that they should be honored in the same state, in the same city, on the same day, and that state the home of Lincoln, Grant and Logan, and that city a northern city and "second largest in the union," and that day Memorial Day, sacred to the memory of Union soldiers, and the services during which have been entrusted to the Grand Army of the Republic.

Resolved, That we as a post of the Grand Army, and as survivors of the civil war, request that the authorities of the city of Chicago (if possible) prevent the dedication of such monument on Memorial Day, since it would tend to lessen the effect which the day and its usual service were intended to secure, to dishonor the national flag, and would tend also to promote discord, and destroy the harmony which has hitherto prevailed.

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread at length on the records of the post, and that a copy thereof be sent to the headquarters of the Department of Massachusetts Grand Army Republic.

CHARLES H. FORBES, Adjutant. S. C. CHAMBERLIN, Commander.

New Bedford, Mass., May 9, 1895.

THE PRIZE RING.

Falvey vs. McCann at the New Bedford Athletic club tomorrow night.

and he sometimes questioned whether it was second to the governor even. It was because he was overworked in the business of the commonwealth that he was unable to speak. We are certainly proud of this our son.

Curtis Guild.

President Stetson then introduced Curtis Guild, editor of the Boston Commercial Bulletin, who spoke as follows:

Curtis Guild, Jr.'s Address.

Mr. President, Gentlemen of the Board of Trade—It is with extreme diffidence that a stranger rises to address a New Bedford audience on any phase of the development of public spirit because there is probably no city in New England where public spirit has been more manifest either in individual sacrifice or in united effort for the common good. Cripple one industry and Yankee ingenuity invents another to replace it. Strike down one leader and another seizes the standard from his faltering grasp. One color bearer after another may fall, but the prosperity and honor of the city advances, till, like that flag of the negro regiment it may be said at the victorious end "Old Glory never touched the ground."

It is New Bedford that has given Massachusetts a president of the senate whose absolute justice has won him popularity even among his opponents. It is New Bedford that has given Massachusetts an attorney general who is not afraid to do his duty, his whole duty, recking nothing of personal consequences so long as the state is promptly and thoroughly served. It is New Bedford that sent to Congress one of the first financiers the country ever had, a statesman, none the less a governor of Massachusetts opinion because, like Cæsar, he has three times put away the crown. It is New Bedford, finally, to whom Boston turns today in gratitude. The gross injustice that has been done New England, the absolute neglect of Boston docks that millions might be spent in Galveston, in Mobile, in Charleston, was never so nearly remedied as this winter. The superb fight made for Massachusetts was mainly
